There is more power in unity than division.

Emmanuel Cleaver

The purpose of this training course is to focus on improving communications between the police and the Black community.

The aim is to begin to build confidence and trust in the police from the Black community. This will be achieved by highlighting and discussing personal experiences of racism, bias and discrimination.

A broader approach will be suggested, discussed and offered as the first step toward finding a solution.

Without communication and listening, sustainable change cannot happen
